

Ralph Stanley Museum

249 Main St., Clintwood, VA 24228
(276) 926-8550 or (276) 926-5591 | www.ralphstanleymuseum.com

The Ralph Stanley Museum & Traditional Mountain Music Center provides a truly unique, interactive experience. Visitors can see and hear traditional American mountain music in its original setting - the beautiful mountains of southwestern Virginia. The museum highlights the career and musical influences of Ralph Stanley & the Stanley Brothers.

The museum opened its doors in 2004 with the mission of preserving and promoting traditional, Appalachian mountain and Bluegrass music, not only through its exhibits, but also through workshops, seminars and conventions. The Ralph Stanley Museum is one of The Crooked Road venues, which is a Virginia Heritage Music Trail celebrating the unique musical heritage of the region.

The Hills of Home Festival is traditionally held on the last weekend of May at the Ralph Stanley homeplace in Coeburn. Details on the annual event can be found at www.drralphstanleyfestival.com
